HELP ROOMS AND PRIVATE TUTORING

The following list of private tutors and departmental help rooms is intended as a resource for Columbia students seeking extra academic help. This is all publicly available information, culled from the web pages of the academic departments. CSA does not sponsor any of these tutoring resources. Students should always first contact their professor or TA if they are having difficulties in a course.

Statistics

Help Room
In addition to regular Teaching Assistant office hours, The Department offers Help Room hours to students in STAT 1001, 1111, and 1211. While students in these courses may find that the Teaching Assistant assigned to their section may be their best resource, students in these courses may attend hours for Assistants or Readers assigned to any section of their course. Students in other courses should attend hours of the Assistant or Reader assigned to their section.
