Interested in getting involved in research, but don’t know where to start or what you might like to do? This workshop aims to facilitate first-years’ and sophomores’ involvement in science and engineering research at CU.

Research at Columbia: the What, When and How

Presented by Dr. Vesna Gasperov, this workshop will introduce the Columbia science departments and affiliated institutes and laboratories, provide guidelines for contacting research professors, discuss the timing of undergraduate research, and suggest ideas for getting involved with departmental life.

RSVP:

http://www.studentaffairs.columbia.edu/csa/academic_support/events.php

Brought to you by the Department of Chemistry and The Center for Student Advising