Urban Studies is a multidisciplinary major that is ideal for students with a strong interest in cities and urban living, and is especially suited to those with broad intellectual interests and a desire to effect real change in the world. By integrating concepts and methodologies from numerous academic disciplines, Urban Studies attracts students who find themselves intellectually constrained by the disciplinary boundaries of traditional majors.