Is the International Student Orientation Program for Me?

A Guide for Admitted International Students

The primary goal of the International Student Orientation Program (ISOP) is to help prepare international students who have limited experience in the U.S. to transition into the U.S. culture both inside and outside of the classroom. If you are exploring whether to attend one of the three optional pre-orientation programs, this document will help you determine whether ISOP is a good choice for you.

New Student Orientation Program (NSOP) is the required orientation program for all first-year students. NSOP does not require an application.

Below are the optional pre-orientation programs for first-year students that take place one week before NSOP. The following require an application:

- Columbia Urban Experience (CUE): cc-seas.columbia.edu/orientation/CUE
- Columbia Outdoor Orientation Program (COÖP): cc-seas.columbia.edu/COÖP
- International Student Orientation Program (ISOP): cc-seas.columbia.edu/ISOP

Email ISOP@columbia.edu if you would like to speak to someone about whether ISOP is the right choice for you!

Question Set #1: Language and Background

- Is your first language something other than English?
- Was the language of instruction in your high school something other than English?
- In the last three years, have you spent most of the time in your home/passport country?

NO → TO ALL

YES ↓ TO ANY

Question Set #2: Educational Background

- Is undergraduate study at Columbia your first exposure to the U.S. education system?
- Are you the first in your family to attend a university?
  - Is this your first time in the U.S.?

NO → TO ALL

YES ↓ TO ANY

Question Set #3: Transition to Columbia

- Will you be traveling alone to Columbia?
- Are you the first in your family to study outside of your home/passport country?
- Will you need additional assistance in setting up a cell phone, a bank account and other life essentials in the U.S.?

NO → TO ALL

YES ↓ TO ANY

ISOP may not be the best choice for you.

It looks like you already have a great set of prior experiences and skills that will help you transition to your new life at Columbia. If you are looking for a community-building experience prior to NSOP, you may want to explore CUE or COÖP. If you choose not to apply for CUE or COÖP, you may still participate during NSOP in the programs tailored for international students.

ISOP is a great choice for you!

If you are not able to attend ISOP, we highly recommend that you participate in all programs for international students during NSOP and connect with International @ Columbia during your first three weeks at Columbia.
